The Latin Chamber of Commerce of the United States, CAMACOL is one of the largest minority business organizations in the State of Florida, and the largest Hispanic organization. Although very active in community and small business development, on a statewide basis, CAMACOL has a unique and strong presence in the area of international trade. Through its partnership with the State of Florida, CAMACOL sponsors the Florida Trade and Exhibition Center, a program funded by the State to provide direct business assistance and training to small and minority Florida companies, statewide.

CAMACOL's mission is to foster the entrepreneurial spirit of the state's vital minority business community by developing programs and initiatives that strengthen business activity, facilitate international commerce, promote economic development in target industry sectors, and serve the needs of small and minority business in Florida.

Through its Hemispheric Congress of Latin Chambers of Commerce, CAMACOL has delivered a unique approach to economic development. CAMACOL's Hemispheric Congress is comprised of over 22 national chambers of commerce in the Latin American region, Spain and Poland; no other organization has this international infrastructure, which enjoys a 37 year track record and is a key partner in our state, enabling the development of business linkages which has translated into the creation of jobs and revenue for our community and state.
